

SUPPLEMENTARY AIDS AND SERVICES

Definition and Purpose

“Supplementary aids and services means aids, services, and other supports that are provided in general education classes, other education-related settings, and in extracurricular and nonacademic settings, to enable children with disabilities to be educated with nondisabled children to the maximum extent appropriate in accordance with §300.114 through §300.116.” (34 CFR 300.42)”

The purpose of providing supplementary aids and services is to support students with disabilities as active participants with nondisabled peers, as well as to enable their access to the general curriculum. To that end, supplementary aids and services include modification to the general curriculum and [a child with a disability is not removed from education in age-appropriate regular classrooms solely because of needed modification in the general curriculum]. (34 CFR 300.116 (e))

Full Range of Supplementary Aids and Services

34 CFR 300.114 (ii) states that, “Special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only if the nature or severity of the disability is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.” [Emphasis added]

Supplementary Aids and Services Should Be:

- Available to all students who need them.
- Designed to provide meaningful educational benefit.
- Provided in a manner that avoids stigmatizing students (Gaskin Settlement Agreement, 2005).

There are an infinite number of possible supplementary aids and services to be considered and implemented by Individualized Education Program (IEP) teams. Court decisions have required school districts to make a concerted and good faith effort to use supplementary aids and services to address behavioral issues in the general classroom. The provision of positive behavioral interventions, strategies, and supports is designed to foster increased participation of children with disabilities in general education environments or other less restrictive environments, not to serve as a basis for placing children with disabilities in more restrictive settings.

It is important that IEP teams contemplate educational placement in the general education classroom with the provision of supplementary aids and services as needed.

One framework that may assist IEP teams in considering the full range of supplementary aids and services includes four categories of supplementary aids and services for consideration:

Collaborative, Instructional, Physical, and Social-Behavioral (Etscheidt & Bartlett, 1999). The chart that follows provides illustrative examples for each of the categories. The Oberti decision includes reference to four specific supplementary aids and services that local education agencies (LEAs) must consider: modified curriculum, teacher training, effective behavior support, and provision of an aide, if necessary (Oberti v. Board of Education of the Borough of Clementon School District, 995 F.2d 1204 (3rd cir.1993)).
